BDO India
2025

OVERVIEW

The current indirect tax landscape in India

GST was introduced in India in July 2017. The pan-India subsumption of various Indirect taxes at the Union and State levels brought about significant relief from the challenges associated with the administration and compliance of legacy taxes. GST is not just a tax reform but a far-reaching economic and fiscal policy shift. It has redefined the way business is carried out and obviated the need of aligning business processes for tax arbitrage, as was the case in the past. With GST, technology started playing a critical role in tax administration and compliance. Customs, SEZ law and Foreign Trade Policy-based prescriptions and benefits continue to operate, their interplay with GST is getting sharper, with technology playing a bridge between the two.
